

Design an XML Sitemap and Robots.txt for Optimal Website Crawling

Objective:

To gain practical experience creating essential technical SEO files to enhance search engine crawling and indexing.

By: Aishwarya N

Project Summary

In this project, my task was to create two essential technical SEO files for the website eagletechsolutions.co.uk an XML sitemap and a robots.txt file. These files help search engines like Google to better understand, crawl, and index the website efficiently.

XML Sitemap

The XML sitemap is a structured file that lists all the important URLs of the website such as the homepage, services, about, blog, and contact pages. It helps search engines discover and prioritize which pages to index. Each URL in the sitemap includes additional details like the last modified date and priority level.

For this project, I created a custom XML sitemap containing the key URLs of eagle tech solutions.co.uk. This sitemap helps improve crawl efficiency and ensures that search engines don't miss important pages of the site.

robots.txt File

The robots.txt file provides instructions to web crawlers about which parts of the website should or should not be crawled. For eagle tech solutions.co.uk I allowed access to all public pages while disallowing access to sensitive or unnecessary areas like /admin/, /login/, /private/.

This helps protect internal pages from being indexed and keeps the site focused on SEO relevant content.
